

Executive Proclamation

Office Of The Governor

WHEREAS, 1983 marks the beginning of a Centennial Tree Planting Campaign in South Dakota to result in the planting of millions of trees in urban and rural settings prior to the 1989 State Centennial; and,

WHEREAS, This campaign will also encourage the people of South Dakota to care properly for existing trees and will establish new awareness and understanding of the values and benefits provided by trees; and,

WHEREAS, The proper planting and care of trees truly represents an investment in the future--the future of our people, and the future of our state and nation; and the tree resources of South Dakota, one of the state's few renewable resources, are a vital aspect of everyday life; and,

WHEREAS, Trees provide wood fiber and fuelwood; enhance water quality and quantity; reduce wind erosion of precious prairie topsoils; improve recreational opportunities; protect livestock, crops, homes, and buildings from wind and snow; and add beauty and value to our urban and rural environments; and,

WHEREAS, Arbor Day, the one day set aside each year to commemorate the planting of trees, has become a symbol of faith and hope in the future of our state and our republic; and, South Dakota, by Act of the 1947 State Legislature, commemorates Arbor Day on the last Friday of April:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, WILLIAM J. JANKLOW, Governor of the State of South Dakota, do hereby proclaim April 29, 1983, as

ARBOR DAY

In South Dakota, and I urge all South Dakotans to recognize the importance of trees and forests in South Dakota. I further urge all South Dakotans to join together in a Centennial Tree Planting Campaign - to learn more about the values and benefits of trees and how to care for trees, to enthusiastically manage our existing benefits for a never-ending yield of all benefits, and to plant more trees for South Dakota's future.

ATTEST:

Alice Kundert
ALICE KUNDERT, SECRETARY OF STATE

III WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the State of South Dakota, in Pierre, the Capital City, this Seventh Day of April, in the Year of Our Lord, Nineteen Hundred and Eighty-Three
